

HOW TO CHOOSE THE RIGHT DRIVING SCHOOL FOR YOUR TEEN

Selecting the right driving school can make a difference in your teen's driving training, skills, confidence and safety

Is the driving school accredited?

- ▣ The school must be licensed by the state of NJ?
- ▣ Find out if your insurance company requirements for the six hours of training insurance discount match the schools certificate
- ▣ Instructors are trained, experienced and qualified
- ▣ Driving cars have up to date safety features
- ▣ The school provides a safe and clean environment within the car
- ▣ Review the school's website for professionalism, organization, helpfulness and content that is relevant and easy to use

Find a school or instructor you trust

- ▣ Seek advice, ask other parents and teens about their experience and recommendations
- ▣ Look for quality, professional male and female instructors
- ▣ Look for a school that can accommodate your schedule and is close to home or school
- ▣ Find an instructor willing to adjust the lesson for your teen's learning pace and style
- ▣ Find an instructor willing to interact with the parent and prepare the parent to take over with written feedback at completion of the lessons

Verify the Curriculum

- ▣ Buying the permit and taking the eye test are not part of the six hours of learning and extra time is provided for this service
- ▣ Three two hour lessons that are progressive, engaging and challenging are planned out ahead of time.
- ▣ Lessons will be modified and adjusted for individual learning pace and style
- ▣ Lessons will also cover what is tested on the state driving road test exam

Several Products Offered

- ▣ Look for a school that offers extra lessons and refresher courses in case they may be needed
- ▣ The school offers road test practice services
- ▣ The school offers use of their vehicle with and without practice for the actual road test
